

What Is Montgomery County Going to Do?

We are in receipt of a letter from Joe S. Boggs, State Highway Engineer, urging that Montgomery county accept the proposition recently made this county to build a permanent type road from this city to the Clark county line, whereby the cost to Montgomery county would only be 25 per cent of the original cost of construction. The same proposition was made Clark county which has been accepted, and we cannot but believe that Montgomery county should do likewise without delay. Mr. Boggs' letter in part follows:

"The proposition was made by the chairman of the State Highway Commission and myself at Winchester, some weeks ago for the improvement, with a permanent type of road, of the Midland Trail from Mt. Sterling to the Clark county line, provided Montgomery county would bear twenty-five per cent of the cost of same, is yet open and I sincerely trust will be accepted. Improvement of this project will probably entail an expenditure of $200,000 at the outside, of which, of course the state and federal governments would pay seventy-five per cent, or $150,000, and this return to your county would amount to more than the automobile license tax would be for several years ahead.

"On the Bath county end of the Midland Trail I believe our commission would be willing to make the same proposition and, I cannot help but feel that the major portion of the citizenship of Montgomery county are good enough business men to not let such offers get away."

The Advocate has always (under its present management) been a strong advocate of good roads and it cannot but believe that the citizens of Montgomery county should avail themselves of this proposition without delay.

We understand there has been some hesitancy among local officials from heartily entering into the above proposition due to the fact that the legal right of a county to loan money to the state under the present road laws having been challenged. Of course if we can loan this $50,000 to the state and have it returned at some future date, that is what we want to do, but if such cannot be done, we believe it would be a wise move to vote a bond issue and appropriate the needed funds for this purpose without further delay.

Circuit Court Begins With Light Docket

The Montgomery Circuit Court convened here yesterday with Judge Henry Prewitt on the bench. Judge Prewitt's charge to the grand jury was a strong one. He greatly deplored the night riding conditions now prevalent in this section. "Night riding is unlawful," said Judge Prewitt, "and the provisions of our statutes makes it a felony for persons to band together for the purpose of intimidating another. Besides being a felony these acts are deserving of the condemnation of every good citizen in the community." Judge Prewitt also stressed the importance of the prohibition laws being enforced to the letter, and of the offenders being brought to justice.

The docket for this term is a comparatively light one and few cases of importance will be heard.

John Turner, colored, held on a charge of stealing chickens, was tried yesterday, and cleared.

Lane Clarke, held on a charge of transporting whiskey, was found guilty and fined fifty dollars, with 30 days in jail.

The case of a number of residents in the neighborhood against the Mt. Sterling Laundry, in which they claim the laundry is responsible for a smoke nuisance was tried and the case dismissed.

H. H. Pieper, held on embezzlement charges, will be heard this afternoon and the Verne Jones case will come up for trial tomorrow.

The case of Claude Salyer, charged with the killing of Greene Cole, will also come up this week.

FLAMES DESTROY BARN

The large tobacco barn owned by Henry C. Prewitt on the Prewitt pike five miles from this city, was burned to the ground shortly after midnight Saturday. The year's crop of tobacco, together with some grain and a lot of farming implements were destroyed. The cause of the fire is unknown and the loss is only partly covered by insurance.

WORK BEGUN

Work was begun Monday securing rights of way for the railroad to be constructed from a point on the K. & S. A. up Town Branch to the location of the Central Shale Oil Corporation. As soon as these rights of way have been secured the work of grading, making road bed, etc., will be pushed and Mr. Foulk, secretary of the company, we are informed, will have all machinery here ready to be installed as soon as the buildings have been made ready.

Now is the Time to Advertise

There was never a better time for a rational, well-considered and aggressive advertising campaign than right now. The man of small vision will disagree, and in doing so he will miss his golden opportunity. The man who has imaginations, courage and initiative, whose vision is not contracted and fixed upon the discouragements of the hour, but upon the horizon where the crest of the returning tide can be seen, will prepare to take advantage of it at the flood.

Some business men reduce their advertising space in order to curtail expenditures on the theory that if they must practice economy it is best to cut down the items of expense where they are least essential. Advertising seems, to the business man of a certain type, to be a luxury which may be safely indulged in during prosperous times, but which cannot be bought except in a limited way when the market is dull.

It is the other way around. The dull periods are those which demand the largest and most careful expenditure of money for advertising. It is needed, like a stimulant, in times of weakness.

Big advertising firms are receiving letters which read, "please cancel my advertising, but don't mention, and go on writing in an optimistic vein about business conditions." Or the customer writes, "cancel our advertisement. We must husband our resources."

It is worth inquiring whether it isn't true that if business men generally were to enter upon a vigorous campaign of judicious advertising it would not have the effect of creating in the public mind a new feeling of confidence and optimism, and induce sooner than anything else a resumption of large-scale production and consumption.

Advertising is the life-blood of trade. To "husband resources" at this point is like going back in medicine to the practice of bleeding the patient to reduce the fever, when what he needs is better blood and more of it.

Business men are insistent that the press sound over and over the note of optimism. They regard this as wise and beneficial. But there is no other way in which optimism can be spread so effectively as through a generous appropriation of money for high-class advertising.

The men who follow such a policy will find their reward in the good times ahead. They will be the creators of prosperity and have a right to the major share.

Nightriders in Neighboring Counties

Excitement was at a high pitch Sunday in Bath and Fleming counties, where late Saturday night and early Sunday morning fifteen prominent tobacco growers were visited by a band of armed night riders and warned not to raise any tobacco this year and not to haul or sell any this season.

Poses were formed in Bath county, but after a thorough search they were unable to find any trace, either of the night riders or of their meeting place.

Bath county and Fleming county authorities are unwilling to believe the bands were recruited from their respective counties. The opinion was expressed by Fleming county officials that the night riders consisted entirely of dissatisfied growers from Bath county.

They cite, in support of this view, the fact that prices obtained on the Flemingsburg market have been higher than the average elsewhere, and no reports of dissatisfaction have been made.

It is believed in Bath county, however, that the men lived in Fleming county, as they seemed to have gathered and dispersed near the Fleming county line, it is said. Some of the men likely were from Bath county since they seemed familiar with farmers over that section, it was reported.

Although fifteen growers were reported to have been visited by the band, names of only five were available. They were:

T. S. Robertson, Bethel, Bath county, who is widely known in this section; Thomas Crouch, Jake Boyd and a farmer named Stevens, Bath county; W. T. Shields, and a truck driver by the name of Tomlin, Sherburne, Fleming county.

First reports of threats being made came from near Sherburne, Fleming county, and it is believed that the band next proceeded toward Bethel, several farmers being aroused on the way. When those summoned came to the door they were told in a jocular way by the night riders they were "looking for a doctor."

Twenty-five men visited Mr. Robertson's home in Bath county about 11:30 o'clock Saturday night and four approached him, with their backs to him, to prevent recognition. They warned him not to raise any tobacco during the coming season and not to sell or haul any to market this year. All of the men were armed and masked.

The reply was made defiantly by Mr. Robertson that he had no intention of obeying the command, whereupon the spokesman threatened him with personal injury and asserted they would commit arson. As they left they forced him to turn his face away from the road and threatened to shoot him if he looked around.

The same warning was given Tomlin, Crouch, Shields, Boyd and Stevens. The threats were punctuated by a volley of shots fired by the band as the men left. No damage was done by the shots and the the-

Tobacco Market Slightly Improved

At the Whitehall yesterday morning a blocked sale was completed at which were sold 72,240 pounds for an average of $10.89 per hundred. There was little real good tobacco on the floor and prices paid generally were considered several cents higher than last week.

Following the Whitehall the Robertson sold 55,515 pounds for an average of $14.75, which is the best local floor average received to date. Some crop averages at this sale follow: Henderson & Evans, 7,195 lbs., average $27.69, some of this crop selling as high as 44 cents; Bogie & Maddox, 6,295 lbs., average, $22.32; J. S. Bogie, 1,450 lbs., average, $21.93; Bogie & Hall, 755 lbs., average, $21.54.

A sale was completed at the Farmers' house about noon today but at the time this report was closed no figures were available, although prices being paid were said to be quite an improvement over the past week.

Tobacco continues to pour in and at the rate it is coming to this city the market will not last many weeks. Growers continue to accept best offers, and rejections are light.

"Keeping Well"

The most important thing is not to call in the doctor when you are ill, but to avoid having to call him in at all.

Every time you contract disease the system becomes weakened and you waste just as much strength and energy, trying to keep yourself in perfect condition. Moving picture actresses must keep themselves in perfect condition so they can be depended on when needed. I early learned how to save my energy for my work, how to take care of myself and relax when I felt tired. This is, I think, one of the reasons for my success.

The girl who works must adopt certain habits and not depart from them, if she wishes to make good. Going to bed early is one of these. A successful business woman on being asked what was the secret of her luck, answered "Going to bed every night at nine o'clock."

She meant that she went to work every morning with her brain clear, free from fatigue and ready for a day's task, while others were stupid from dissipation and late hours. No wonder that the bright thoughts came to her, and that she was able to put them into execution with ease.

Another business woman I know refuses to go anywhere except Saturday nights and her Sundays are spent as much as possible out of town, among quiet home surroundings.

If you lead an active, busy life, it is absolutely necessary for you to learn to relax. Like the bow which is perpetually bent, your strength will leave you or else your nerves will snap unless you relax the tension occasionally.

The feet are a great cause of fatigue, and fatigue is the poison of the system. Do not say, wear low heels all the time, but wear them to business if you can, or at least rest from French heels occasionally. The secret of good feet is changing your shoes and resting the angle at which you walk. Several pairs of footwear are not luxury, but real economy. They save wear and tear on your nervous system.

The manner in which you eat also has a great effect on your health and nerves. It certainly pays not to nibble candies and other things between meals. Your stomach should have a complete rest after it has finished digesting one meal until time for the next. Can you imagine the inside of a stomach which is half full of nearly digested, partly digested, and newly swallowed food? Can you wonder at the resulting state of sourness.

Fletcher, the great authority on digestion, said that no one should eat until the very thought of dry bread caused the mouth to water with hunger. He also advised the thorough chewing of food, and smaller meals absorbed in the slowest way possible.

Our worst offense today is over-eating. The old saying that we dig our graves with our teeth is only too true. The real waste in the tissues is not great even in the hardest kind of labor, and when a great mass of food is taken into the body only a small part of it is really used, the remainder is excess and must be thrown out by overworking the kidneys.

Drink plenty of water, this is one of the greatest beautifiers in existence. It flushes the intestines. One should drink at least five glasses a day.

The daily bath is an excellent aid to health, because it keeps the pores open.

Do not overdress in the way of underwear. The use of heavy flannels is injurious because one perspires in a steam-heated house and then goes out and becomes chilled. It is better to wear the same lingerie all the year around and to adopt warm knickers under one's skirt and an extra warm wrap.

Perhaps the most important thing of all is to keep the system open and free from impurities and the liver active. Physicians declare that if this received more attention the amount of disease would decrease perceptibly. When you begin to feel ill take a physic immediately. It will aid you in breaking up a cold, in avoiding tonsillitis and in throwing off infection.

Always remember this: Every day of our lives we take into our system germs of almost every disease which is floating through the air. This need not worry you. If your system is kept open and in good condition you will lose these germs as easily as you breathe them into your system, but if you are clogged with impurities and in a poor condition they will obtain a hold and grow within you.

EDUCATIONAL TOOTH TALK—30 Recognition

The care of the teeth is now recognized as a necessity. In fact, the large hospitals over the country examine the patients' teeth and where it is possible to clean and repair them before attempting a surgical operation. Experience has shown that the patient has a better chance for recovery with a clean, healthy mouth can without it. This ought to convince the most skeptical that every-day cleanliness and care are requisite to health. Proper care involves at least a semi-yearly examination of the mouth by a competent dentist.—Dr. H. M. Wright, Traders Bank Building.

23 Kentucky Cows Make Honor Roll

A seven-year-old Jersey cow, New Year's Frolic 2nd, owned by the Allen Dale Farms at Shelbyville, led the list of 23 Kentucky dairy cows, including 15 Jerseys, seven Holsteins and one Guernsey, which won a place for themselves on the December Honor Roll of the state by producing more than three pounds of butterfat during the two days that they were tested under the supervision of the State College of Agriculture, according to an announcement made today by J. J. Hooper, in charge of the oblige dairy. The December champion produced 94.2 pounds of milk and 4.73 pounds of butterfat during the two days.

Oldham county with eight "honor" cows, leads the list for December. Shelby county was second with 7; Christian county was third with 3, and Todd county fourth with two individuals on the list. Boone, Mason and Fayette counties each placed one cow on the roll, the animal from Fayette county being a Guernsey, owned by the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. A total of 126 animals from 21 herds were tested during the month, according to an announcement.

The list of owners having cows on the December roll included the Allen Dale Farms at Shelbyville, Shelby county; Gray-Von Allmen Farms, of La Grange, Oldham county; J. C. Askew, Trenton, Todd county; C. W.

Smith and Son, La Grange, Oldham county; G. H. Stowe, Hopkinsville, Christian county; W. W. Hampton & Son, Goshen, Oldham county; Omer Cleek, Beaverlick, Boone county; Perrant Brothers, Dover, Mason county, and the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, Lexington, Fayette county.

Have Incubator Ready Before Eggs are Saved

Kentucky poultry men who are planning to use incubators in hatching their chicks this spring can save themselves much time and expense by making sure that the machine is in good running order as reasonable length of time before they wish to put in the eggs, according to poultrymen at the State College of Agriculture.

An inventory of the outfit should be taken at this time to make sure that all parts are present and that there is a good supply of such things as wicks and other articles which are used in any number in turning out the hatch. Any parts that are needed should be ordered now, in order to prevent possible delay when the eggs are ready to be put in the machine, say the poultry specialists.

Two or three days before the period of incubation the machine should be started in order to assure the operator that it can be maintained at the proper temperature throughout the period. Experiments have shown that a temperature of 101 degrees the first week, 102 degrees the second and 103 degrees the third week give the best results in hatching the eggs when a standard thermometer is used, that is, one where the bulb is on a level with the top of the eggs. When using a hanging thermometer, where the bulb is an inch above the eggs, a temperature of 103 degrees straight through the hatch has been found best.

The incubator should never be located in a damp room or on the second or third floor during the period of incubation, according to the specialists. A well-ventilated cellar has been found to be the best place for the location of the machine. Care should also be taken to see that the machine is not set in the direct rays of the sunlight.

Before the eggs are placed in the machine the thermometer should be tested by the use of the ordinary clinical thermometer. The two instruments should be placed in water at 110 degrees and observations made as the water cools to see that the readings correspond especially between 101 and 103 degrees.

In all operations of the incubator the directions of the manufacturer should be followed closely.

Early Hatched Pullets Mean Winter Eggs

While next winter may seem to be a long way off, and the problem of maintaining a full winter egg basket then may seem distant, Kentucky poultry raisers can go a long way toward assuring themselves that they will have a good supply of high-priced winter eggs by making arrangements now to hatch their pullets early, is the statement of poultry specialists at the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky. Experiments conducted by the State College show that pullets that are hatched in March usually start laying about October or November, while those which are hatched late in May or June usually do not start laying until after the first of the following March. Some interesting results in this experiment were obtained from two sister pullets.

The one which was hatched in March started laying in October of the same year at the age of seven months, while the one which was hatched in May had not started laying January 1st. Those in charge of the experiment stated that she probably would not lay until ten months old or maybe older.

In order to hatch pullets early, farmers should begin to make arrangements now for their spring hatchings. Those pullets which are hatched early will start laying at the time of the year when eggs are high-priced and when they are most valuable to the farmer while the later hatched pullets will not start laying until after the eggs become cheaper.

Must Pay Income Tax on Bonuses

Only single persons whose net income for 1920 was less than $1,000 and married persons living with husband or wife whose net income was less than $2,000 are exempt from the requirement to file an income tax return.

The obligation to consider his own case and to file an income tax return on time, if one is due, is laid squarely on the shoulders of every resident of the United States. Guesswork is barred. The returns are sworn statements and accuracy is essential. Salaried persons and wage earners must ascertain the actual compensation received. Bonuses, and also shares in the profits of a business, values of quarters and board furnished by an employer, and other items of compensation for services must be included.

Returns must show both gross and net income. Gross income includes practically every dollar received by the taxpayer during the year 1920. The net income is determined by subtracting from gross income certain deductions specified by the revenue law, and fully explained in instructions on forms 1040-A and 1040 for filing returns.

Business expenses are the principal allowable deductions in computing net income. The law specifically prohibits the deduction of the household and living expenses. Typical deductible business expenses are for salaries, labor, cost of merchandise, raw materials and supplies, rent, repairs, light, power, delivery, selling cost, advertising, and insurance. Doctors, lawyers and like professional men may deduct from their gross income dues paid to professional societies and subscriptions to professional journals, rent paid for offices, amounts paid for light, fuel, water and telephone used in such offices, and the wages paid to office assistants.

This year, as last, the tax may be paid in full at the time of filing the return, on or before March 15, 1921, or in four installments, the first of which is due on or before March 15, the second on or before June 15, the third on or before September 15, and the fourth on or before December 15.

The return must be filed with the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer lives. Heavy penalties are provided for a failure or willful refusal to make a return and pay the tax when it is due.

Physicians nowadays take a blood test when you are run down. They count the red corpuscles in your blood. If these are too few they give you a tonic for your blood. It happens right along. They are always on the lookout for indications of weak blood.

Why! Because they know when your blood is weak your resistance to disease is low. Your vitality and energy quickly run down.

You can tell when your blood is weak. You look pale, feel tired. You are not ill, but you don't feel right. You don't want to do things. That is the time to take the well-known tonic, Pepto-Mangan.

Pepto-Mangan builds red blood corpuscles. Physicians have prescribed it for thirty years.

Pepto-Mangan is sold in liquid and tablet form. The medicinal value is exactly the same. Take either kind you prefer. But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan—"Gude's." The full name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," should be on the package.—Advertisement.

Where Children are Starving to Death

In Austria-Hungary and Czechoslovakia there are 1,000,000 war orphans. Five thousand of these have been wandering like animals in the Rutenian mountains.

In the Baltic Republics there are 150,000 orphans. Many thousands will be unable to attend school next winter for lack of shoes and other necessary clothing.

Poland has 500,000 orphans, the majority living in refugee camps instead of homes.

In Roumania there are 200,000 orphans.

Jugo-Slavia has 600,000, some living in devastated villages, from which adults have fled.

In Soviet Russia there are three to four million orphans.

These figures vouched for by a bulletin of the American Relief Administration reveals a tragedy of childhood probably unequalled in the history of the world.

Through the European Relief Council Herbert Hoover is asking Americans to give $33,000,000 with which to save the lives of 3,500,000 children. A contribution may be sent to any bank in Kentucky. Address Richard Bean, Kentucky treasurer, European Relief Council.

YOUNG MAN

Get away from the crowd for a while, my boy, and think. Stand on one side and let the world run by, while you get acquainted with yourself, and see what kind of a fellow you are. Ask yourself hard questions about yourself. Ascertain from original sources if you are really the manner of man you say you are, and if you are always honest; if you always tell the square honest truth in business details; if your life is as good and upright at eleven o'clock at night as it is at noon; if, in short, you are really the sort of a man your father hopes you are, and your sweetheart believes you are. Features Added for Conclave of Farmers

Announcement has just been made that another feature in the form of a farmers' get-together banquet will be added to the program of the Ninth Annual Farm and Home Convention to be held at the College of Agriculture February 1-4, inclusive. The banquet will probably be held Thursday night, February 3rd, according to a statement made by Dean Thomas P. Cooper, of the State College.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists. T.C. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

MISS HUNT CANDIDATE FOR CIRCUIT CLERK

Miss Anise Hunt has authorized us to announce her as a candidate for Circuit Clerk, subject to the action of the Democratic voters at the primary August 6th, 1921. Miss Hunt has served as Deputy Clerk in this office for the past six years under John H. Blount and prior to that time was a deputy under her lamented father in the same office. Miss Hunt is a daughter of the late R. J. Hunt, who held the office to which she aspires for several terms and is a young woman of exceptional ability, well qualified in every particular to fill the position of Circuit Court Clerk. She is especially deserving and has a wide circle of friends and relatives who will leave no stone unturned to assure her nomination and election. Miss Hunt feels that her many years' service as deputy entitles her to the place which she aspires and assures all voters she will ever be grateful for their support and influence.

For the past four years Judge Senff has served this county as judge and prior to that time as County Attorney for several terms. He has been active in politics since a young man and feels that the faithful duty which he has rendered is worthy of further endorsement. He is thoroughly conversant with all the laws and his friends claim that the record he has made on the bench is one to be proud of. Judge Senff is recognized as a superior campaigner and is certain to make a strong race at the polls in August. We bespeak for his candidacy careful consideration and Judge Senff authorizes us to state that he will be deeply grateful for all support and influence accorded him.

The Advances of A Successful Man

The subject of this sketch that follows was here among friends on last Sunday.

Richard Bean was born here in 1879, and when his father's family, R. T. Bean, moved to Wichita, Kan., during the boom period, Richard was only a small boy. After the burst of this business boom we next heard of Richard in Louisville, in business with his father, and later having accepted a position with the great Southern millers, Ballard & Ballard. Here he seemed to be a fixture, but again we heard from Richard as vice president of the Louisville National Bank and later as president of this bank. He has had many very flattering positions offered to him, but he is content to be as he is, president of this Kentucky institution.

Richard Bean is a nephew of William, Pointz and Charles Bean, and a first cousin of Mrs. Margaret Guthrie, this county, and city.

The Courier-Journal Magazine of last Sunday gives a sketch of this worthy young man and adds his maxims to young men which he gives to them when they seek his advice.

"Work twelve hours a day. A man can't be successful or found a fortune on eight hours of work in a day.

"Live on less than you make.

"When you save money, invest it conservatively, striving for safety rather than for big dividends.

"Don't be ashamed of small investments. Why buy ten shares of stock when really you can afford but five? Start out by buying one share, if that is all you can afford.

"It pays a young fellow to stick to a job. Don't change every time you have an offer of more salary.

"Cultivate a spirit of helpfulness. Go out of your way to be helpful. You'll never have the following that you'll need in business if you aren't helpful."

MONEY--LAND--TOBACCO

A Money Lender

A resident of Montgomery County, a money lender, last year loaned out $5,000 for a term of three years. A few days ago, being hard pressed for funds, he tried to use the note he held as collateral security. The bank to which he took it told him, "We are making no more loans."

A Farmer

One of Montgomery County's leading farmers last year put all of his surplus money into purchasing additional land. It was "bought worth the money," but has depreciated fully 50 per cent.

A Retired Business Man

A retired business man of Mt. Sterling some days ago wanted some money for a "gilt edge" and high interest paying investment offered him. He went to the banks and offered to put up $10,000 of GOVERNMENT BONDS as collateral security for a loan of only $5,000. HE COULDN'T GET A DOLLAR.

A Tobacco Tenant

A tenant in the county in 1919 cleared some several hundred dollars out of his share in a tobacco crop; all of this he reinvested in 1920 and now finds that he is about "$1,000 worse off than NOTHING," as he expressed it.

A Merchant of Mt. Sterling

A merchant of Mt. Sterling the latter part of 1919 made his purchases for 1920. He now finds these goods on his shelf—can't dispose of them and worth about 50 per cent of what he had to pay for them.

A Business Man

A prudent, foresighted business man of Mt. Sterling in 1917 took $10,000 Life Insurance—of the "Talk with Hoffman" kind. This past week he came to my office AND BORROWED THE FULL RESERVE VALUE AT 6 PER CENT INTEREST—TO BE PAID BACK AT HIS CONVENIENCE—AND WITHOUT EXPENSE OR PUBLICITY. Life Insurance policies ARE WORTH 100 CENTS ON THE DOLLAR. What else has maintained this same value?

The Future ?

If you are insured and wish advice concerning your policies; either a loan on them or how to use them as collateral come in and "Talk With Hoffman"—there is no obligation, no expense and I will be glad to serve you.

RE-ELECTION TO THE OFFICE OF

COUNTY JUDGE

A CARD

January 25, 1921.

To the Democrats of Montgomery County.

Ladies and Gentlemen:—Before the last county primary, I made this written pledge to the people:

"If promoted to this high office, I will bring to the discharge of its duties an earnest ambition in my heart to make good, and an intimate knowledge of every detail of the county's business. I propose to give you a real business administration; to devote my entire time to the duties of the office; to personally see, by carefully examining every claim presented, that you get a dollar's worth of honest work for every dollar of public funds expended; to impartially, fearlessly and effectively enforce the law, and in all things to give you the best service that is in me."

tively enforce the law, and in all things to give you the best service that is in me."

If you feel I have fulfilled, as your County Judge, to the best of my ability, the above pledge and that I am therefore entitled to endorsement at your hands, I shall be very grateful for your active support and good will at the primary, August 6, 1921.

Moving to and From Canada

Our Canadian cousins are gloating very freely over the immigration during the last year from the United States to Canada. They say 50,000 of us have gone over the line to settle and that we took over $17,000,000 of wealth with us.

Maybe so. But when we look up our own immigration figures it appears that, up to October 1, something over 40,000 Canadians hiked over to the United States with their worldly goods. At best the loss of this country is about 10,000 people, which is only one in every ten thousand of our population. You can quickly estimate how serious the loss is when you reflect on what it means when one person moves away from a town of 10,000 inhabitants. Incidentally the 10,000 net that we lost to Canada is just about the number of people who moved from only one western state to California last fall!

Canada is a fine country, if you can stand the climate and our neighbors over there are a fine lot of people. We begrudge them nothing.

Mrs. Hiler Dies

Mrs. Maria Elizabeth Hiler, wife of W. R. Hiler, died at their home near Jeffersonville, in this county, on Wednesday afternoon, January 19th, 1921, in her 68th year, having been born January 11th, 1853. She became a Christian at New Hope, Ohio, when a young woman. Her family moved to this county many years ago. She is survived by her husband, four sons, Frank, of Clark; Jacob, William and Abner, of this county, and two daughters, Mrs. Rebecca Fayette Shouse and Mrs. Lillie Moreland.

Mrs. Hiler was at home alone and walked out in a lot adjoining the yard, where she was stricken with apoplexy or heart failure, and was there seen by a neighbor passing. Members of the family and neighbors were at once notified. She died without regaining consciousness. She and her husband lived alone. The funeral service was held at the home on Friday afternoon by Rev. B. W. Trimble. The burial was near the residence.

Miss Ola Rogers was operated on for appendicitis at Lexington at an early hour yesterday morning and is reported to be getting along as well as could be expected.

LOSS OF WEIGHT

Mineral Wells, W. Va.—"I am glad to have the privilege of recommending Dr. Pierce's medicine. I was all run-down and in a very bad condition. Had doctor's orders for hundreds of dollars away and never received any benefit from the doctors' medicine. I also was operated upon for female trouble, but was only able to drag around, and kept getting worse all the time. I only weighed 115 pounds. A friend recommended Dr. Pierce's medicine to me so I took four bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' and now I do all my work and take care of four children, and I weigh 173."—MRS. Club Champions Are Announced

EVANS THREW HIS CRUTCHES AWAY

Rheumatism and Other Troubles Overcome by Tanlac—Nothing Else Ever Helped Him

"I had one of the worst cases of rheumatism a man ever had, but after six bottles of Tanlac I threw my crutches away," said Thomas Evans, 119 West Chestnut Street, Akron, Ohio.

"My feet were so swollen at times with rheumatism that I could not get my shoes on," he continued, "and frequently my knee became so swollen that I could not get my clothes on. I finally became so helpless I could not work regularly."

"My stomach was also in bad condition and I couldn't eat or sleep to do any good. I took all kinds of medicines, but my troubles stayed right with me. A stranger saw me on the street limping one day and asked me what the trouble was. I told him rheumatism and he said he was in the same fix himself until he started taking Tanlac."

"He seemed so positive that Tanlac would help me that I began taking the medicine. The first bottle didn't seem to do me any good, but I stuck to it and the second bottle began to straighten me out and by the time I had finished the third bottle I was actually back at work again and haven't lost a day since."

"I've taken six bottles now and I feel as well as I ever did in my life. I haven't a sign of rheumatism about me, and feel so strong and well that I am able to do as much work as I ever did in my life. My stomach is also in perfect condition and I can eat anything I want without any bad after effects."

"I really feel like a brand-new man, and I hope some day to meet that stranger who advised me to take Tanlac, so I can thank him for the advice he gave me."

Tanlac is sold in Mt. Sterling by Land & Priest.

Barren Co. Farmers Plan to Drain Fields

Farmers of Barren county co-operating with County Agent J. O. Horning, are making extensive preparations to tile many of their fields during the coming year, according to reports received from Mr. Horning. The work was recently started at a meeting on the farm of C. E. Glass where an outline for tiling a field was given by County Agent Horning. Twenty farmers representing approximately 1,200 acres of undrained land, were present and after the meeting took up plans for the purchase of tile for their farms. Individual problems of the farmers in tiling their respective fields are being taken up by County Agent Horning.

The danger of corn and corn meal spoiling is practically eliminated if the moisture content of sound corn and corn meal does not exceed 12 per cent, according to results obtained by the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station.

Berea has been long identified with that section of the state that the State Executive Committee felt that Berea's help was necessary to the successful operation of the work.

The state executive committee, as organized, consists of Wellington Patrick, head of the Department of University Extension at the University; Professor W. H. Mikesell, professor of Public Speaking at the University, who is director of debate in the league, and S. A. Boles, head of the Department of Physical Education at the University. The Interscholastic League was organized as an extension feature of the University for the purpose of fostering debate and track work in athletics, as well as other miscellaneous activities, among which will be an essay writing contest, the details of which will soon be announced.

Among the larger schools that have accepted membership are the Senior High School, Lexington; Winchester High School, Louisville Male High School, Dayton High School, Cynthiana High School, Dry Ridge High School, Williamstown High School, Corinth High School, Henderson High School, Madisonville High School, Campbell County High School, Morgan County High School, Sue Bennett Memorial School, Highland Institution at Guerrant, and Georgetown High School, as well as a large number of smaller schools.

The question which has been chosen for debate this year is Resolved, That the United States government should have a commission with power of compulsory arbitration of labor disputes between employers and employees of public utilities. A bulletin covering both sides of the question, prepared by Professor W. H. Mikesell of the University, is now in press, and will be ready for distribution to the members about February 1. In addition, packages containing pamphlets and numerous publications on the subject, printed by the American Federation of Labor and U. S. Department of Labor, will be distributed to all members of the league. These are now ready and will be sent to the members about February 1st. In this way it is expected that each school will be enabled to prepare excellent debates on the subject. The debates in the various districts will be conducted during the months of March and April, at such times as may be designated by the district committees. The final debate will be held at the University on May 6th and 7th, at which time the Track Tournament of the Interscholastic League will be held.

The Interscholastic League is in connection with Extension Departments of State Universities and is not new. A number of state universities, such for example, as North Carolina, Texas, Missouri, Indiana, and others have had great success in Interscholastic leagues. The state university of Texas fosters a league with 3,000 members; and the annual event is a wonderful affair. Special trains from all parts of the state carry fans to see the athletic events and hear the debates. Texas, however, has thrown her league open to the public schools of the state. The University of Kentucky has confined her program, so far, to the accredited high schools of the state.

"Busy" Reports

Out of the thousands of telephone calls made daily, about ten per cent result in a report of busy lines.

This enormous number of busy reports is due largely to the fact that many subscribers repeat their calls at intervals of a few seconds.

Making immediate and repeated calls for a busy line causes much unnecessary work for the operator and is a wasteful use of lines and equipment.

It will improve your service and help the general service of the community if you will wait a few minutes after receiving the busy report before making a second call.

Plans have practically been completed for the annual conference of Kentucky's 67 county agents which will be held at the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky, on January 27-31, according to a statement which has just been made by C. A. Mahan, state leader of the agents. Seven prominent out-of-state speakers, together with local agricultural authorities and members of the college faculty will be scheduled for talks on the program which has been designed to feature agricultural authorities of national reputation.

Out-of-state speakers who will talk to the county agents include: Lucius E. Wilson, vice president American Cities Bureau, Chicago; Dillon S. Myer, county agent Franklin county, Ohio; Clark S. Wheeler, sales manager Delco Light Plant, of Dayton, Ohio; M. C. Burriett, director of extension work, New York; R. K. Bliss, director of extension work, Iowa; C. B. A. Bryant, business manager, Franklin county, O., and A. A. Olsen, county agent, of Crawford county, Ohio. Local speakers who will address the agents will be President Frank L. CHILD DIES OF PNEUMONIA

Kellar Thomas, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kline, died at the home of his parents on the Camargo pike Monday morning at 2 o'clock after a three days' illness of pneumonia, and was buried on Wednesday morning at 10:30 in Machpelah Cemetery. Little Kellar was an exceptionally bright and winsome little fellow and a favorite with all who knew him. On account of his smallness he was nicknamed "Peanut" and hardly anyone knew him by any other name. The heart-broken parents have the sympathy of all in their sorrow. One child, Raymond, remains.

Home Demonstration Agents Meet Jan. 26

Kentucky's 21 home demonstration agents representing as many counties in the state, will meet in the annual conference for 1921 at the State College of Agriculture, January 26-31, according to an announcement made last week by Miss Margaret Whittemore, state leader of the agents. Three out-of-state speakers have been scheduled for special talks. The entire group of agents, together with local workers, will take part in the discussion of the demonstration work as it applies to the farm women of the state.

The special speakers which have been engaged include: Miss Lita Bane, state leader of Home Demonstration Agents in Illinois; Miss Emma B. Matteson, Western Reserve University and a Washington representative who has not been selected. Dr. Arthur McCormick, president State Board of Health, and Miss Lavinia Bonner, town and country secretary of the Y. W. C. A. will also address the women.

CARDUI HELPED REGAIN STRENGTH

Alabama Lady Was Sick For Three Years, Suffering Pain, Nervous and Depressed—Read Her Own Story of Recovery.

Paint Rock, Ala.—Mrs. C. M. Stegall, of near here, recently related the following interesting account of her recovery: "I was in a weakened condition. I was sick three years in bed, suffering a great deal of pain, weak, nervous, depressed. I was so weak, I couldn't walk across the floor; just had to lay and my little ones do the work. I was almost dead. I tried every thing I heard of, and a number of doctors. Still I didn't get any relief. I couldn't eat, and slept poorly. I believe if I hadn't heard of and taken Cardui I would have died. I bought six bottles, after a neighbor told me what it did for her.

"I began to eat and sleep, began to gain my strength and am now well and strong. I haven't had any trouble since. I can testify to the good that Cardui did me. I don't think there is a better tonic made and I believe it saved my life."

For over 40 years, thousands of women have used Cardui successfully, in the treatment of many womanly ailments.

Eastern Kentucky Determined on Roads

The county judge of Letcher, like others of eastern and southern Kentucky, are determined to have good roads and are hastening the time of completion. Judge Fess Whitaker, it will be remembered, was elected on the good roads proposition while as jailer of Letcher county he was incarcerated for a trivial offense. Immediately after the November election Judge Whitaker announced that he was expected "to pull Letcher county out of the mud" and now he is planning to fulfill the campaign promise. At this same November election a $300,000 road bond issue was voted. Now the judge is giving this good road proposition his time and labor. Reader, consider his pledge, what he says and what is said of him. It may appear as a fairy tale, but mark our words, things come to pass where determination and energy are applied.

"When I called my Fiscal Court together on January 1 my first work was to abolish free labor in the county," said Judge Whitaker. "Second, I paid every dollar Letcher county owed and my third order was to issue the $300,000 worth of road bonds that were voted November 2, 1920, so that they would immediately begin drawing interest. I then ordered $50,000 worth sold as soon as issued.

"Immediately after I ordered bids and bonds made for eight miles of new roads and filed plans with the County Engineer notifying him that all engineering, blue prints and red tape must be completed by not later than April or the first of May for all road work expected to be done during 1921.

"So when the sun comes up over the sunny slopes and the shadowy vales of the Classic Cumberland, where the brooks murmur and the flowers bloom, and the morning robins sing their sweetest songs and when the toad frogs sing their farewell song in Letcher, people can say "it must have been Fess that caused us to move. If he keeps up like he is going now there will be no more mud holes left after he gets through and with the surveying all done and the blue prints filed there is nothing to do but work.

"I expect to put on 100 teams and 500 men and when the blue birds begin to go south, the latter part of November or December, and the roaring of the powder and dynamite ceases, I expect to have an 18-foot road all over Letcher county, well crowned and with a two-foot ditch, especially from Jenkins, Ky., on to the coal fields, leading to Perry county.

"I expect to spend four full days each week on the road with contractors, steam shovels, ditchers and common laborers. On Wednesdays and Saturdays I expect to place my feet under the judge's desk and do the office work, except on county court and quarterly court days of each month."

Judge Whitaker, with such a determination, and with the applied co-operation of his people, will have the citizenship of Letcher enjoying the labors of their hands before Montgomery and other blue grass counties arouse from inexcusable indifference.

To enjoy with the counties east the good roads on the way, we have only to awaken and join hands with them; take on their determination and energy and Kentucky will be in the midst of her most prosperous era.

Farmers of Carlisle Perfect Association

Approximately 50 Carlisle county farmers were enrolled as charter members of the Carlisle County Strawberry and Sweet Potato Association at a recent meeting of more than 100 farmers of that section of the state, which was held for the purpose of finding a suitable substitute for tobacco as a farm crop. The new association will further the growth and marketing of sweet potatoes and strawberries.

Organization of the association, which will have its shipping station at Arlington, was modeled after the Tennessee plan, according to a report of County Agent B. A. Hensley, who co-operated with the State College of Agriculture and the farmers in perfecting the plan. A constitution and by-laws have been drawn up and plans made to increase the membership as rapidly as possible.

Sweet potatoes have always been an important crop in the county, more than 20 carloads being shipped out each year, but strawberry growing has just been started, according to Mr. Hensley.

Tests to indicate the effect of the application of fertilizers on burley tobacco are being conducted by the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station.

Learning More About Our Community Life

How much do we know about our community life? Are we not, generally speaking, moving about in a rather hap-hazard way? We are all friends and neighbors, of course, but wouldn't we be interested to know more about ourselves as a whole? And if we knew, wouldn't it be possible to improve our conditions and better our neighborliness toward each other?

Survey reports that to assist communities in measuring the vitality of their own life as compared with that of other communities and the progress made by themselves from year to year, the Extension Division of the West Virginia College of Agriculture has issued a score card, giving in parallel column for three years the principal data concerning the resident families, the history of the community, ownership of land, main products, "rural mindedness," and community spirit shown, character and results of local elections, attitude toward taxes, law enforcement, administrative and business efficiency, agricultural practices, live stock, number and activity of clubs, character and management of homes, school plant and efficiency, churches, provision for public health (sewage disposal, water supply, milk supply, handling of manure, etc.)

Although the score card is filled out from time to time by a local community club, the state departments of schools and public health, the state university and the Sunday School Association, by a co-operative arrangement, supervise the procedure, and aid the local communities and their committees in determining the rating on the various points. Inter-community meetings and demonstrations are planned to discuss and consider the standing of different communities and help them improve on the points in which they are weak.

The Three Friends

Once upon a time a fine, tall, straight tree grew on the edge of a beautiful wood. The tree was so tall that its top branches reached out over the heads of all its neighbors. One morning three friends were talking together under the tree; a fat green frog, a frisky grey squirrel and a little brown thrush whose wings were not strong enough to fly.

"Oh, my!" said the little brown thrush, looking up into the green branches, "wouldn't it be fine if we could all live up among those shiny green leaves?"

"Well, yes it might," said the gray squirrel, "but I'm pretty well contented where I am. I can gather plenty of nuts down here and store them away without much trouble. If I lived in one of those high branches it would take me twice as long to get to my nest and it would mean a great deal more work. I think I'd just as soon stay where I am."

"Well, for my part," croaked the frog, "I don't believe in doing any more than you have to do. I can get enough bugs and insects down here. I really can't see any sense in going higher."

"Oh, but think how many lovely things you could see up there, and how much more you could hear," said the little brown thrush, "and I shouldn't wonder a bit if you could do more when you were up higher. I'm going to try to get up as high as I can."

"Oh, ho!" laughed the squirrel. "How do you expect to get up? You can't fly yet and you can't climb the way I can. What's the sense in going to all that work? I say it's foolish."

"And so do I," croaked the frog. "Can't you see enough and hear enough and do enough down here in the grass? You don't find me overworking and doing any more than I absolutely have to do." And with that the frog settled himself in the grass at the roots of the tree, and there he stayed.

But the little brown thrush began right away to learn to fly. It was hard at first, and she had to try many times before she was able to reach even the first branch. But one day she did reach it. It was more beautiful than she had dreamed, and when she had found out all the lovely things about it she called down to her two friends and begged them to come up and share her pleasure. The green frog flatly refused to leave his grassy home, but the gray squirrel, after thinking it over, decided to go. He climbed up the tall trunk to the first branch and found it every bit as delightful as the little brown thrush had said; so then and there he decided to stay. As soon as he had rested he went to work to make his nest. But the little thrush didn't stop at the first branch. Each day she kept going a little higher, and each day she kept growing a little stronger, and each day she kept finding something new and beautiful that the higher branches had to offer, and each day she begged the squirrel to follow her. "Oh, if you would only come up here," she would say, "I'm sure you would be happier; why, I am getting stronger every day; I feel as if something wonderful were going to happen to me."

"Oh, I don't think anything very wonderful can happen to you," called back the squirrel. "You are only a little brown bird and about all you'll ever do will be to fly and chirp a little. Please don't bother me any more with your coaxing. I'm getting quite tired of it, and besides I've fully made up my mind to stay right here!" After that the little thrush stopped coaxing the squirrel and spent all her time and strength in trying to reach the top of the tree.

On spring morning she reached it—the very tip-top of the big tree—and oh, what a glorious moment! Her little heart almost burst with the joy of it all as she looked out over the sun-lit tree tops and spires and up into the blue sky. Oh, if she could only tell someone about it—and then, the wonderful thing happened, for just as she opened her mouth out poured one of the sweetest bird songs the world has ever heard!

Grace and Charlie, on their way to school, stopped to listen. "Oh, look!" cried Charlie, "the bird is on the very tip-top of the big tree!" Oh, I see it!" called Grace. "Doesn't it sound as if it were telling us how beautiful it is away up there?"

Produce Review

January production of butter is reported above normal. Due to the increasing supplies, the markets have worked lower during the week.

The S. S. Frederick VIII arrived at New York during the week with a cargo of approximately 2,000,000 pounds of Danish butter. Further importations are expected in February, as Danish butter is offered at prices below the present quoted markets. Danish butter is of generally better quality than the average make of the creameries in the Central States. Producers should recognize the necessity for improving the quality of cream delivered to stations, thereby enabling the creameries to make better butter, which will compete with the Danish butter importations.

Due to the mild weather throughout the producing sections receipts of eggs are showing a material increase, with lower prices prevailing in all the larger markets.

Poultry receipts are below current requirements, and some stock is being withdrawn from storage. Prices show little change from last week.
